Sentencing dates not set in cases

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Sentencing dates haven't been set for James W. Barton, former Madison County supervisor of assessments, and Jack G. Bruce, convicted murderer of Carl and Susan Hoffman.

Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. is waiting for presentence reports on both men, he said. The reports, prepared by the probation department, contain background information on the men, Romani said. The dates will be set after the reports are received, he said.

Barton, 64, of Granite City pleaded guilty Dec. 5, 1986 to one count of conspiracy to commit bribery and four counts of official misconduct.

Official misconduct is a Class 3 felony, punishable by a sentence of up to five years in prison. Conspiracy to commit bribery is a Class 4 felony, punishable by a sentence of up to two to three years in prison.

In return for Barton's guilty pleas, Special Prosecutor Bruce Locher agreed to dismiss 32 other charges and to make no rec-

Vehicle stickers on sale

City vehicle stickers can still be purchased at a reduced price until May 15. The stickers, which must be displayed by May 1, are $5 for cars and $3 for motorcycles. Truck sticker prices are based on vehicle weight. After May 15, the stickers will cost $10 for cars and $5 for motorcycles. The stickers are available at the city clerk's office and at city banks.

New faces on council

When the Granite City Council convenes its first May meeting, four new members will take their seats as a result of last week's election. The new members are James Miller, 2nd Ward; Dan Partney, 4th Ward; Walter Milton, 6th Ward; and Emerald Dawes, 7th Ward. Juanita Crawley, who challenged incumbent 1st Ward Alderman Everett Morlen and lost by three votes, is expected to seek a recount.

Apartments get backing

Rep. Mel Price and Sen. Alan Dixon have lined up in support of 100 apartments at the Army depot here. The $9.7 million project is being considered by the U.S. House. If approved, the apartments would increase local tax revenues and provide jobs. The apartments would serve personnel stationed at the depot.

Two pieces of labor legislation were defeated yesterday. The women's "eight-hour" bill was one vote short of passage in the Illinois Senate. The Senate also refused to outlaw "labor spies" used to secretly gather union information.

Easter sunrise service at park

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

The annual Easter sunrise service at the Wilson Park ice skating pavilion will take place at 6 a.m. Easter Sunday, April 19.

Guest speakers at the community-wide event will be the Rev. Dr. Rex Spicer, professor of practical theology and director of field education at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis.

The public is invited to attend the special half-hour service, which will be broadcast over

WGNU radio.

Leading the congregation in worship will be the Rev. Samuel Bodin, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church.

Easter bonfires performed by a brass ensemble will open the service. The ensemble, which is under the direction of John T. Severine Sr., will also accompany the congregational singing.

The local community's sunrise service is approaching its 40th consecutive year under sponsorship of the Lutheran Bureau of the Tri-Cities. The bureau consists of three local Lutheran churches.

Serving as commissioners to the bureau from the three congregations in 1987 are Harold F. Krohn Jr., Thomas B. Rosch, Edward Christ Sr., William Seibold, James Choat and Virgil Ware.

Each year, one of the three congregations arranges and supervises the traditional service.

St. John Lutheran Church is in charge of this year's Easter program, assisted by the other bureau representatives.

The brass ensemble is made up of musicians from the three local churches.

Doughnuts and coffee will be served at the close of the service in the pavilion lobby.

The 1987 sunrise service will serve as a remembrance to the late Harold Kienle, Lutheran Bureau treasurer and a member of the organization for many years, the sponsors said.

Higher speed limit to have little effect here

Motorists driving on most stretches of interstate highways in Illinois that run through the Metro East area will be required, by law, to continue to drive at 55 mph when a new 65 mph speed limit goes into effect in late April.

"There's not much in the St. Louis area" that will be affected by the new 65 mph speed limit, said John Burk, a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Transportation in Springfield. The speed limit increase is included in a federal highway and transportation spending bill recently approved by Congress.

The bill authorized the higher speed limits on rural interstates that run through less-populated areas.

The changeover, which will take about three days to complete, is scheduled to begin April 27, Burk said.

Motorists still will be required to drive 55 mph on stretches of Interstates 55, 70 and 64 between the Mississippi River and I-255. These highways run through

Simon throws bow tie into presidential ring

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon of Makanda has announced he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. His formal announcement is scheduled for May 18.

"I couldn't go to sleep...after talking to him," said his mother, Ruth Simon, of Collinsville.

The official announcement of his candidacy will come at a fund-raiser in Carbondale, she said.

Sen. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas will be the main speaker at the fund-raiser. Simon decided to run after Bumpers, his favorite, declined.

Formerly editor of the Troy Tribune in Madison County, Simon served the Granite City, Venice, Madison, Pontoon Beach, Mitchell, Edwardsville and Troy areas in the Illinois House and then the Illinois Senate. He became a state senator in 1962.

Lieutenant governor in 1969-72 as a Democrat, with Republican Richard Ogilvie winning the governor position, Simon concentrated on ombudsman duties (service to citizens) during those years.

Simon was endorsed by the Illinois Democratic Central Committee for governor but narrowly lost the 1972 primary to Daniel Walker, who went on to defeat Ogilvie that fall. Walker made extensive use of Simon's decision not to rule out a possible state tax increase. Since the Walker term ended in 1976, Republican James Thompson has been the governor.

After two years on the faculty of Sangamon State University, Springfield, Simon served from 1974 to 1984 as the southernmost Illinois congressman and then was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1984.

He said at the Capitol in Washington, "I want to reclaim the dream of Franklin Delano Roosevelt that every working man and woman has a right to a decent job. I want to halt the decline that has occurred in the dreams and hopes of too many in our party and our country."

Three youths arrested when found with bomb

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Three Granite City youths were charged Monday after they were found Saturday with a gasoline bomb and two sawed-off shotguns, Madison County authorities said.

Thomas J. Johnson, 17, of the 2200 block of Woodlawn Avenue was charged Monday with two felony counts of unlawful use of a weapon and one felony count of possession of an illegal explosive device, said Capt. Robert Hertz, chief of investigations for the Madison County Sheriff's Department. Johnson is being held in the Madison County jail in Edwardsville on $30,000 bond.

Two Granite City boys, ages 15 and 16, were charged with

Boy soldier abandoned by Uncle Sam

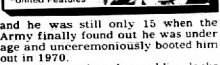

WASHINGTON — Abraham Lincoln promised in his second inaugural address that the nation would "care for him who shall have borne the battle," and the Veterans Administration was established to carry out that pledge.

But the VA today is a bureaucracy that operates by the rules — its own picky rules. And its officious paper-shufflers have decreed that Walter Lee Martin doesn't qualify for veterans' benefits even though he served in the infantry for nearly two years in Vietnam and needs medication for a chronic lung disorder he contracted in the Army.

Martin's problem is that he was too young — at 13, probably the youngest American grunt in Vietnam. That's as old as many drummer boys in Mr. Lincoln's army, and Martin carried as big a load of combat duty as men twice his age. But he obviously was never legally mustered into service.

Weekly Special

and he was still only 15 when the Army finally found out he was under age and unceremoniously booted him out in 1970.

So the onetime boy-soldier lacks the official documentation so dear to the bureaucratic heart, even though the Army acknowledges that he served in uniform. Lacking a discharge paper, Martin, now 31, has been steadfastly rejected by the VA in his claim for veteran's benefits.

Here's what our associate Stewart Harris learned from Army and VA files.

Martin was more than 6 feet tall and weighed 160 when he was 12. In 1959, at age 13, Martin tried to join every branch of service, without success. The secretary of the local draft board in Arcadia, Fla., also thwarted his attempt to enlist in Arizona under the name of Walter Martin Lee.

What happened next is in dispute. Martin claims he was standing in an Atlanta bus terminal in January 1969 when police picked him up as an AWOL soldier. The Army claims Martin swiped a GI's duffel bag and assumed the soldier's identity.

At any rate, the 13-year-old was shipped out to Vietnam about a week later and put in a replacement battalion at Long Binh. He saw plenty of action, and says he won a Bronze Star for valor during a night attack in which he operated a two-man M60 machinegun by himself. There's no record of this, however, in the military files.

Eventually, the soldier who lost the duffel bag reported that someone was drawing part of his pay, and the Army tracked Martin down in Vietnam and kicked him out. But his service didn't count, as the VA bureaucrats explained in an Orwellian memo.

"Although Martin did perform duty in Vietnam and was wounded in Vietnam, he has no valid service, was never legally enlisted in the Armed Forces, was never honorably discharged from the Armed Forces and is not entitled to any Veterans Administration benefits of any shape or form."

In short, he wasn't declared an unperson, just an unveteran.

The Board for Correction of Military Records rejected Martin's appeal last January, and without a board decision legitimizing his military service, the VA won't reopen his case. Rep. C.W. "Bill" Young, R-Fla., plans to submit a private bill that would officially recognize Martin's military service.

Meanwhile, Martin is in a federal penitentiary, serving a three-year sentence for impersonating a member of the military and passing a bad check. He put on his old uniform, he said, and entered an Army base in Florida, where he persuaded a doctor to write him a prescription for his expensive lung medicine.

COURTLY CONGRESSMAN: At an official function in the Philippines recently, Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., noticed that President Corazon Aquino had congregated in a corner with the women while the men huddled elsewhere in the room. Solarz went up to Aquino and asked her to dance. Apparently taken aback, the president declined graciously.

New immigration law isn't a cure-all

To the editor:

As the federal government gets ready to implement a new immigration law, there are seven things we can do to ease our immigration problems.

1. We must work with Mexico to improve the economy of our neighbor to the south.

Some observers have noted with considerable accuracy that the United States is bound by two countries, one we do not regard as a foreign country, and one we ignore.

Ignoring Mexico's problems is folly. It invites political extremism next to our borders. It avoids the reality that a less prosperous Mexico makes more likely a less prosperous U.S. And it ignores the population factors that would cause great stress between our two countries. The right answer is to work cooperatively with Mexico now to encourage so much that is good in that country.

2. In Central America, the U.S. should listen to our southern neighbors who are virtually unanimous in publicly saying our policies in that area are shortsighted, hurting the cause of democracy, and an encouragement to extreme elements.

Our friends are right, and our policy is wrong. That flawed policy has caused more than half a million Central Americans to enter our country as undocumented workers. That number could grow dramatically.

When foreign policy is built upon passion rather than reason, it is usually wrong. The people of Nicaragua may not be in love with the Sandinistas, but the evidence is strong the Contras are less popular.

Those who would attempt to topple the Sandinistas through supply of weapons to the Contras usually have a view of the developing world about 20 years old. They see a wave of new leaders in developing nations moving toward Marxism. That was true two or three decades ago, but most of these leaders have become disillusioned with that dream and are much more pragmatic today.

If we share with our concern and our example that a free system can provide answers, they will move toward freedom.

We should encourage free institutions, economic development and peace.

3. Civil libertarians, immigration and law enforcement officials and concerned citizens should discuss what can be done to solve the problem of an identification card.

Almost all nations have one, and every study on the enforcement of immigration laws collides with the problem. Many Americans believe the idea of having an identification card is smug.

There are ways to solve the problem, perhaps through the issuance of a voluntary identification card for those who want it? I don't have the answer. All I know is that every study on the immigration problem runs into this dilemma.

4. We should step up efforts to find an inexpensive way to convert salt water to fresh water.

The question is not whether that inexpensive method will be found, but when.

If 1 percent of the present defense budget was devoted to this research, the contribution to the security of this nation and to the enrichment of humanity would be beyond measure.

It would be a great help to the economy of Mexico, relieving the pressure to emigrate dramatically. A breakthrough is not imminent, but what is now a non-priority should become one.

5. A sensible jobs program that, in a fairly sweeping way, overhauls our present welfare and unemployment compensation system, is needed for both those born in the United States and for our new citizens.

We are not going to let people starve within our borders, so we face the choice of paying people to be productive, or non-productive. That should not be a difficult choice.

Legislation I have introduced to guarantee a job to all who want to work would move us in the right direction, assisting not only the less fortunate, but making the nation more productive.

6. Efforts to assist immigrants to acquire English language proficiency need to be strengthened.

The zealots who banned teaching German in schools during World War I were as wrong as the anti-foreign language Know Nothings of the 1850s or those who passed legislation prohibiting Chinese translations in our courts.

Immigrants who cannot speak or read or write English are at a greater handicap than they would have been a century ago. Assimilation is retarded.

If the same effort that is now put into fear-filled campaigns against the non-English speaking were directed toward more English classes and further educational and skill development, everyone would benefit. And the answer is not simplistic solutions like dropping bilingual education.

Bilingual education is needed for many students as a bridge until competence and confidence is developed in English skills. Our failure to do more is harmful to the development of a more productive nation, guided by informed citizens.

7. Finally, we must recognize that the different cultural backgrounds others bring to our shores provide an opportunity for cultural enrichment.

Immigration presents both problems and opportunities. But the simple gestures of friendship, of volunteering help, of helping to the nations from which they came, will bring rewards beyond calculation.

U.S. SEN. PAUL SIMON

Invaluable help by volunteers here

To the editor:

Congratulations to the 89 million Americans who serve as volunteers.

Most agree that the time-honored American tradition of volunteering contributes immeasurably to our communities and enriches the quality of our lives.

Volunteers are also important to our economic system.

Countless schools, libraries, museums and hospitals could not operate without that most valuable gift — the gift of self — provided by the volunteer.

Volunteering is not all one-sided. It gives back in full measure. Besides providing enjoyment and a feeling of contributing, it fulfills personal needs and leads to substantial growth.

Volunteering helps people stay active and maintain a good mental attitude.

Pontoon Lionesses will host egg hunt Saturday

By Valerie Evernden
Staff writer

The fourth annual Easter egg hunt to be sponsored by the Pontoon Beach Lioness Club will take place Saturday, April 18. Linda Leleniewski, Lioness president, has announced.

Four attend career development school

Four employees of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association participated in a training program for savings association personnel at the University of Illinois, Champaign. Pamela Jenkins, Juanita Naugle, Nina Logas and Lynn Scaturro were among the 187 participants in March in professional growth sessions sponsored by the university and the Illinois League of Savings Institutions.

The program, known as the Career Development School, engages students in a three-year track of lectures, panels and workshops which are intended to give them a broader perspective of the business and to further develop their skills for future responsibilities.

Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Naugle graduated at this session, having completed their three-year program.

President Paul F. Sodko said the school focuses on providing better informed and more capable employees to serve the customers of Madison County Federal.

Pet class planned

Beginning April 22 at 6:30 p.m., the Madison County Humane Society will hold obedience classes at Rode Park in Granite City. For more details, pet owners may call 656-4405.

Board sets next year's school dates

GRANITE CITY — The District 9 School Board set June 4 as the last school day for the 1986-87 school year.

The board also passed a tentative school calendar for the 1987-88 school year.

The first day of student attendance is Aug. 25 and the faculty meets Aug. 24. Parent-teacher conference days are Nov. 4-5 and March 23-24. An institute day will be held March 25.

The Christmas holidays will begin Dec. 23 and end Jan. 4. The end of the first semester is Jan. 15. The second semester begins Jan. 19 and the last day of school is June 6.

Excluding the institute day and the parent-teacher conference days, 181 attendance days are scheduled for the year.

The hunt for colored eggs will be staged on the fire station grounds, starting at 1 p.m.

Should rain or other inclement weather occur Saturday, the event will be moved to the Pontoon Beach Senior Citizens Center, 3910 Illinois 111, Farrell said.

Youthful egg seekers will be divided into age groups with three prizes to be awarded to the most successful hunters in each group, the chairman said.

PROTECTIVE MEASURES

Most dermatologists agree that sunbathing can prematurely age and otherwise damage the skin. If you have decided to sunbathe, however, there are protective measures that can be taken. There are sunscreen lotions and creams on the market that prevent the skin from burning. Some can even prevent tanning altogether. Look for products that state their Sun Protection Factor (SPF) on the label. An SPF of 20 means that you can sun up to 20 times longer than you could without protection. On most people, sunscreens with an SPF of 20 prevent tanning. Sunscreens with SPF 15 are a good choice for fair-skinned people who cannot risk burn yet desire a slight tan.

Once the warmer weather comes the only precautions that are made are for the skin. As important as this is, it is also important to protect your hair. People with color treated or permed hair should be especially careful in the sun. And if you're a skimmer, don't be embarrassed to wear a bathing cap. For more tips on hair care and wonderful ways to wear your hair in the summer come to RAZOR'S EDGE. We'll start you on a hair care program that will be easy to follow all year long. Teens need foster homes

GRANITE CITY — "People who become foster parents to teenage boys and girls are those who enjoy young people, are eager for challenges, are interested in providing direction to youngsters who need it, and at the same time are flexible and easy going. If you fit this description, the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) wants you," Jeanette Rettie said this week.

In September 1986, DCFS launched a new campaign, "Give Someone the Home Advantage," to recruit many more families for Illinois children who need foster care.

"The campaign — which included new brochures, fliers, posters, buttons, an intensive outreach effort, plus a new toll-free number (1-800-624-KIDS) — has succeeded in finding hundreds of new families to care for children who have been abused, abandoned or neglected," she said.

"While the response has been encouraging for many of our younger children, there are still not enough families for teenagers," said Rettie. DCFS foster care resource development specialist for the Granite City area.

She said more teens are entering the foster care system these days because "more families are having problems staying together."

"Joblessness, rising costs, and divorce are tearing apart many families. These pressures frequently push kids out on their own — long before they're ready for it."

Rettie said that while the job of foster parenting a teen may sometimes be harder than with an infant or young child, the rewards can frequently be meaningful.

"Teenagers can be a lot of fun. For families who enjoy sports and recreation, it's a treat to have a young person along to share the good times."

"Additionally, when you provide the love and guidance that puts kids on track and helps them succeed in school and life, you can really feel great about your contribution."

"And one of the best things about being a foster parent to a teenager is that as they get older, they are more likely to remember the part you played in their lives and come back for visits."

To help families who provide foster care to teenagers, DCFS provides a whole range of support services.

"Along with regular training classes for foster parents and other resources, we are available around-the-clock to handle any issue that comes up," she said.

Rettie is confident that once the word gets out that more families are needed for teenagers, the response will be positive.

"We also think the timing is right because there seems to be a new population of young adults and families committed to enriching the world. These altruistic people are part of our target audience."

Rettie said foster parents can be a married couple or they can be single persons. They receive payment for the care of the teen board, clothing and incidental expenses. The DCFS pays the youngster's medical and dental bills.

Foster care is not adoption, and we're not asking people to take teenagers into their lives forever. What we desperately need are scores of terrific families who will say: "Yes! I can help. I can open my heart and home to this youngster and be there for him or her as their life is put back together."

The Granite City DCFS is at 1506 Johnson Road. For information, persons may call the toll-free number, 1-800-624-KIDS, or the Granite City office, 876-8885.

CCA NEWSLETTER No. #2

Greetings everyone! What a wonderful day we had for the small club's first rally last week! Thursday, April 16, (as all you chairpersons know), is the first turn-in for the large organizations and Joyce and I will be at our respective table locations...rain or shine. Check page 63 for the time and place most convenient for you. Remember, if your schedule permits, arrange to come towards the middle of the rally. Don't forget to cut out this newsletter and turn it in to your group's chairperson. Some time soon we will assign a point value to them and allow them to be tabulated. Look each week in the SUB-REAR COUNCILS for a newsletter just like this one!

Another easy way to earn points and gain valuable information is through our CCA Speaker's Bureau. In addition to having one speak to your group (which is worth 10,000 points), our group can earn points by scheduling any of our available speakers. They represent ALEXIAN BROTHERS, AMERICAN RED CROSS, BLODGETT LIGHTHOUSE, BRYANT HEATING & AIR CONDITIONING, THE GRATER ST. LOUIS DENTAL SOCIETY, HEITNER CORPORATION, MISSOURI GLAZE, PAPER WAREHOUSE, ST. LOUIS EYE CLINIC AND SUNSHINE DRAPERY! If you want to arrange for a speaker for your group (or even for a non-CCA organization you may be involved with), call me at (314) 727-2160. Your group earns 10,000 points for each!

If any group needs additional Buyer's Guides we will have them available at the rally locations. Speaking of the Buyer's Guide...don't forget to fill out the product and listener surveys on pages 57 & 60. Each is worth 2,000 Bonus Points! Simply turn them in to your CCA Chairperson! And large club chairpersons, remember that valid 1986 receipts must be turned in this first time only and bonuses begin on 1987 receipts!

ALEXIAN BROTHERS HEARING CENTERS: Earn 2,500 bonus points per person for each free hearing screening. Ask for your CCA Bonus Slip.

AMERICAN RED CROSS: Your group can earn points by sponsoring a Blood Drive, having a Red Cross speaker, or by taking a course certified by the RED CROSS, save your receipt for points.

AMOCO OIL COMPANY: Save both cash and charge receipts. (You will have to ask for your cash receipt.) Earn extra points for each purchase of $10.00 or more of AMOCO ULTIMATE gasoline. Attention chairpersons...if the receipt does not specify an ULTIMATE purchase, check the price per gallon which should be on all receipts. If the price is 95¢ or more per gallon, you can assume that the gas pump charged is the ULTIMATE brand.

BLODGETT LIGHTHOUSE: With lots of redecorating in store this Spring, you'll want to check out BLODGETT's great prices and selection! They are a part of our Speaker's Bureau and are located next door to another CCA Sponsor...Sunshine Drapery.

FAMOUS BARR: Save all your cash and charge receipts...no monthly statements. FAMOUS BARR is the perfect place to shop for your Easter Bonnet and outfit! Get those receipts to your chairperson so your group can point!

FAMOUS BRAND SHOES: The super selection at FAMOUS BRAND SHOES will really get your toes tappin'! Save your receipts and remember, you'll earn bonus points for shopping any Sunday!

HEPPEZ PICKLES: Save the labels from all HEPPEZ pickles! Here's a hint...the labels say "all the jars with ease when placed in hot, soapy water for 10 minutes or so!"

MCDONALDS: Save all food wrappers from MCDONALDS. No drinks or sundae containers. In the case of salads...save the clear plastic top.

PAPER WAREHOUSE: For any occasion...shop the PAPER WAREHOUSE! For cards, invitations, decorations it's worth a visit to one of their three locations...CREVE COEUR, KIRKWOOD and BALLWIN! 'Tis the season...Mother's Day, Easter, and Memorial Day are all upcoming, along with graduations and confirmations, tool Shop and save your receipt and remember, "IT ISN'T A PARTY UNTIL YOU PUT IT ON PAPER!"

ST. LOUIS EYE CLINIC: The phone numbers for all the ST. LOUIS EYE CLINIC locations are on page 17 of your Buyer's Guide. Save your receipts, and if you need receipts for insurance purposes, etc., then call your chairperson or me to learn how you can still use your dollars spent towards points for your group!

SCHNICKS: ALL RECEIPTS FROM ALL SCHNICKS STORES AND SCHNICKS STATION RESTAURANTS ARE VALID! The stores listed in the Buyer's Guide are just those that are open 24 hours, however all Schnicks are involved with CCA, so save those receipts! Don't forget that the SCHNICKS bonus is on all HOUSE BRAND LABELS, including meat and deli labels!

SEE'S CANDIES: What better place to buy Easter candy than at SEE'S? Save your receipts. Also, any group interested in selling SEE'S CANDY as a FUNDRAISER call 1-800-FOR-SEE'S (which is the invoice for CCA points).

SPARKLE GLASS CLEANER: Earn 200 points for any size label of SPARKLE...the purple glass cleaner that leaves no streaks.

SUNSHINE DRAPERY: Located on Page Service Rd. Next to Blodgett Lighthouse, SUNSHINE DRAPERY not only has all the latest styles in drapery, but free shop at home service. Just call 555-2980 for more information and save your receipts.

TOMSTONE PIZZA: Here's another sponsor with whom groups can fundraise. Whether you are interested in hot pizza sales or taking orders for frozen pizzas, you can raise money with TOMSTONE and save the invoice for CCA points. Call me for more details at (314) 727-2160.

See pages 48 & 49 in your Buyer's Guide for the WEBER CHEVROLET ad.

Next week we will have the top 12 Small Club weekly money earners for you...don't miss it!

Championship boxing bout accidentally free on cable

Many Censom Cable Television subscribers had the opportunity to watch free of charge the midweight championship boxing bout between Sugar Ray Leonard and Marvelous Marvin Hagler because of technical errors at the Maryland-based cable company.

More than 1,000 cable subscribers ordered the fight from Censom for $29.95 through the company's new pay-per-view service, according to Barry Babcock, executive vice president of Censom.

Babcock said he had no idea how many subscribers received the boxing match free of charge, but the problem will be corrected so it will not occur again. No one will be billed for the championship bout who did not order it, he said.

Babcock said no refund would be given to customers who ordered the fight because they received it without charge. The error could be traced to two reasons, Babcock said.

The company was having computer problems on the day of the fight, he said.

Motorists to pay higher gas tax

Beginning June 1, motorists will be pumped up at a higher rate when they fuel up in Missouri.

Missouri voters Tuesday approved by a 56 percent to 44 percent margin a 4-cent gasoline tax increase that brings the state's fuel tax to 11 cents a gallon. But while gas prices are going up June 1, safety and traffic programs on the state's roadways will be going down, say proponents of the increase.

Revenue from the new gas tax will be used along with federal funds for many major road and bridge improvements, including two new Missouri River bridges.

Proposals to increase the gas tax were defeated in 1978 and 1982. Missouri's last gas tax increase was in 1972.

Voters in St. Louis County approved the increase by 64 percent to 36 percent. In the City of St. Louis, 66 percent of the voters said "yes" to the increase. Fifty-nine percent of voters in Jefferson County approved the increase.

"We're pleased that the people of Missouri saw a need" for funding for the improvements, said Frank Kriz, St. Louis area district engineer for the Missouri Highway and Transportation Department.

Plans for completion of improvements to Highway 40 in west St. Louis County and Hwy. 21 in Jefferson County will have a high priority now that more funds are available.

Kriz said plans for the narrow, winding 21, also known as "Blood Alley," are complete and ready. Kriz said.

Work along Hwy. 40 has been in progress for several years. Continuing work includes widening heavily traveled sections.

But construction of a new Hwy. 115 bridge at St. Charles

Speed 65 limit to have little effect here heavily-populated areas and carry much traffic.

But all of the 1-2-3 beltline in Illinois and all of I-270 which runs north and south will carry the new 65 mph signs, Burk said.

The signs are expected to begin appearing near the end of this month.

Motorists also will be allowed by law to drive 65 mph on I-44 from Illinois 157 to Indiana and on I-55 from Illinois 83 at Bollingbrook to I-255 at Collinsville, Burk said.

On I-70, the 65 mph speed limit will be allowed from I-255 at Collinsville to Indiana, he said.

Only cars and pickup trucks will be allowed to drive at the increased speed, Burk said. Big trucks, campers and trailers must continue to drive 55 mph, he said.

Autos and pickups were allowed to drive 70 mph in Illinois before a federal law changing the speed limit to 55 mph on interstate highways was passed in 1974. Heavy trucks, campers and trailers were limited to 55 mph.

ommendations regarding sentencing.

Roman isn't sure why he hasn't received the report on Barton, he said.

Bruce was convicted March 19 for the April 30, 1986 murders of the Hoffmans, the attempted murder of Mrs. Hoffman's daughter, Jennifer Seago, and a charge of home invasion.

Under state law, Bruce would be sentenced to life in prison because he was convicted of murdering more than one person.

Attempted murder and home invasion are Class X felonies that each carry prison terms of up to 60 years.

Barton remains free on bond. Bruce is being held without bond in the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

The two were released at a detention hearing Monday pending a court hearing on the case, Hertz said.

The three youths were stopped at about 10:30 p.m. Saturday on New Poag Road near Edwardsville after two county deputies saw the youths sitting in a car next to an abandoned auto, Hertz said.

License authorized for Ill. Power plant

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) on April 10 voted to authorize the Clinton Power Co. a full-power operating license for its Clinton power station.

Following the vote by the commission, the NRC's Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation will issue to Illinois Power a license to operate the Clinton plant above 5 percent power.

The full-power operating license states that the NRC has found Illinois Power technically qualified to operate the Clinton power station, the plant has been designed and built in conformity with the regulations of the NRC, and the plant can be operated without endangering the health and safety of the public.

The plant will be brought to full power in incremental steps with tests occurring at the different reactor power levels, a spokesman said.

Arlene Haldeman named president

A buffet supper, prepared and served by Evelyn Tolliver and Arlene Haldeman, was enjoyed by members of the Laureate Alpha Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the latter's home last week.

During the business meeting conducted by acting chapter president Pat Tsigaloroff, officers for the 1987-88 club year were elected. They are: president, Haldeman; vice president, Tolliver; recording secretary, Dolores Byrnes; corresponding secretary, Ruth Stoyanoff; treasurer, Tsigaloroff, and extension officer, Juanita Calve. Jean Forrest was named chapter representative on Beta Sigma Phi's local Coordinating Council.

A discussion was held on a letter received from the Chamber of Commerce concerning the community clean-up campaign. Forrest reminded members of a patio sale to be held at her home April 4. Also reviewed were the chapter's responsibilities for conducting the program at the Founder's Day banquet in late April, at which time all Granite City chapters of Beta Sigma Phi gather for this annual observance.

The cultural program for the evening was led by Delores Dorich, who selected as her subject the late Mohandas K. Gandhi, Hindu nationalist and spiritual leader. She traced the early childhood of the "Mahatma," as he was universally known, his education in England, his newspaper career in South Africa, his service in the Indian Ambulance Corps during the Boer War, his return to India, the ascetic lifestyle he later adopted, his revolutionary passive resistance teachings, which after 350 years of British colonial rule led India to independence in 1947, and his assassination the following year at the age of 79.

Martha Jean Dyer will entertain the chapter in her Worden home for its next regular semi-monthly meeting.

Area women teachers attend state conclave

Key women teachers from Madison County attended the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International state convention at the Marriott Hotel in Chicago.

Attending were Elizabeth Briggs, Dorothy Mitchell, Agnes P. Fryntzko, Linda McDonnell, Carole Locke and Pat Moore from Granite City; Patty Penelton, Sara Carpenter, Vivian Raffaele, Jennie Raffaele and Louise Sheary from Edwardsville; Rowena Lutz, Nelda Emmert and Fredna Scroggins from Beahar, Shirley McCune, Grace Monroe, Birdine Groshing and Ila Lowery from Alton; and Lucille Stevenson from Worden. Rowena Lutz was honored at a presidents' dinner held on Saturday evening.

Alpha Eta Chapter members who had special convention responsibilities were Patty Penelton, Elizabeth Briggs, Dorothy Mitchell, Lucille Stevenson, Grace Monroe, Sara Carpenter, Agnes P. Fryntzko, Linda McDonnell, Vivian Raffaele, Birdine Groshing and Ila Lowery. They are members of the Downstaters and sang at a memorial service.

"Education: Our Future" was the convention theme. Nine scholarships totaling $9,900 were awarded along with a Woman in the Arts scholarship, a recruitment grant and achievement awards.

Judge Romani recommended for retention

Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. has been "strongly recommended" for retention in a judicial advisory panel of lawyers conducted by the Illinois State Bar Association.

The other eight associate judges of the 3rd Judicial Circuit all received "recommended" ratings.

The bar association mailed ballots to 343 lawyers in the circuit, and 171 were returned.

Summary scores of 90-100 resulted in the "strongly recommended" rating. Romani's score was 91.59.

Close behind was Associate Judge Daniel J. Stack with a rating of 89.82.

Scores of the other judges were: Nicholas J. Byron, 79.52; Wendell Durr, 81.84; Edward C. Ferguson, 83.82; George Filcoff, 78.04; Jonathan Isbell, 74.70; Lela P. Maddox, 78.57; and Clayton R. Williams, 76.50.

Philip J. Rarick, chief judge of the 3rd Judicial Circuit, said all of the present associate judges have filed notices of their intention to seek retention this year.

Associate judges are selected by the circuit's elected circuit judges.

Rarick said the circuit judges will receive ballots for the retention of associate judges later this month.

'Buying club' criticized

The Better Business Bureau is warning Illinois consumers to exercise caution before joining Century Buyers of Belleville. The bureau has received more than 20 reports alleging high-pressure selling tactics since the firm began its Belleville business two months ago.

Century Buyers of Belleville, 4517 W. Main St., is a membership buying club. For a membership fee of over $800, the club offers members discount prices on merchandise.

Most of the consumers who contacted the BBB reported they were solicited by telephone or mail, and were promised free gifts to attend a presentation. At the presentation, most prospective members were informed that if they turned down the offer, they would never be given the opportunity to become members again.

One woman reported turning down the offer, but the salesman continued to pressure her until she felt she "had" to become a member.

Gary Mitskoff is listed as president. Information supplied by the company lists the firm as registered to do business in Missouri and Illinois, but the Illinois secretary of state's office does not have a company registered by that name.

There are two other Century Buyers buying clubs in the area: Century Buyers of St. Louis Inc., 1841 Sherman Drive, St. Charles, and Century Buyers of South St. Louis, 11876 Gravois, St. Louis.

Gary Mitskoff is also associated with both locations.

The BBB received several reports of the same selling tactics at these locations as well. The companies have responded to consumer complaints received by the bureau. Some of the complaints alleged slow delivery of ordered merchandise.

Before signing a membership agreement with a buying club, the BBB said, consumers should consider the following:

"Whether you will save enough money on purchases to recover membership fees.

"Are extra postage or freight charges included in the purchase price?

"Lifetime membership means the life of the company, not your life.

"Will your contract be sold to a finance company? If so and the company goes out of business, are you still responsible for payments?

"Are you restricted to purchasing certain brands, colors, sizes, etc., of merchandise?

"Potential customers should be allowed to compare the cost of items and savings before making a decision. Do not be pressured into signing a contract. Take a few days to think it over; a company should be willing to allow you to return," a BBB spokesman said.

"If you decide to join, read and understand the contract and have all verbal promises in writing. For more information on buying clubs, call the BBB at 1-314-531-3300."

Burris says bonds are too costly

Comptroller Roland W. Burris believes the use of Build Illinois bonds instead of traditional infrastructure funding mechanisms costs taxpayers millions annually in interest payments.

Burris said the interest payments accumulate because Build Illinois bonds carry higher interest rates and longer terms than traditional general obligation bonds.

Before Build Illinois was enacted as the state's infrastructure rebuilding program in fiscal 1986 (July 1985 to June 1986), road, rail, domestic water and sewer projects were often funded through the issuance of general obligation bonds.

General obligation bond money is generally used to fund certain anti-pollution, transportation and capital development projects, Burris explained.

He said, an examination of Build Illinois shows expenditure of state funds for "questionable projects," including construction of biking and jogging trails and improvements to a golf course in an affluent Chicago suburb.

The first $100 million Build Illinois bond issue will cost $84 million more in interest than GO bonds over the life of the bonds, he asserted.

A major portion of the $948 million Build Illinois bonding authority, Burris said, is for projects which were previously funded by general bonds.

Unlike GO bonds, which are backed by the full faith and credit of the state, Build Illinois is financed by "dedicated revenue bonds," which tend to sell at higher interest rates.

Current GO bonds generally also mature in 25 years and have level principal payments while Build Illinois bonds mature in 30 years with level debt service payments.

Among the non-infrastructure projects funded thus far by Build Illinois is a $300,000 grant to improve the park district office in the Chevy Chase golf course in Wheeling.

Burris also pointed to the construction of several bike and jogging trails throughout the state, including a trail from Bloomington to Normal which may cost in excess of $200,000.

Burris also noted the governor's budget request to expand Build Illinois by $700 million in fiscal 1988 and said the General Assembly should review the funding mechanism and project priorities.

U.S. income tax deadline nearing

If you haven't filed your tax return yet, Ira Loeb, IRS district director, Springfield, says you should do it now.

According to Loeb, IRS records show that people who wait until the last minute to prepare their returns make more mistakes than those who file early — and they'll have to wait longer for their refund.

The Kansas City Service Center — which processes Springfield District tax returns — reports that once again, not signing the return and not attaching W-2s are the most common mistakes being made by Springfield (Ill.) district taxpayers.

The Service Center has also received several incomplete and missing Schedule Ws. Deduction for a Married Couple When Both Work. This year, taxpayers are also forgetting to attach their Schedule A, Itemized Deductions, and Form 2441, Credit for Child and Dependent Care Expenses.

To file an error-free return, Loeb encourages people to: double check their math; make sure all necessary forms and schedules are attached; sign the return (both spouses if married); and use the peel-off label and the pre-addressed envelope.

If you don't have the pre-addressed envelope, you can mail your return to: Internal Revenue Service, Kansas City, Mo. 64609. According to Loeb, you can check on the status of your refund — if it's been 10 weeks since you mailed your return — by calling toll-free 1-800-554-4777 Monday through Friday.

Women of Achievement

Tradition Of Service Continues

Julia Davis
Education

The Suburban Journals, in cooperation with KMOX Radio, are proud to announce the selection of 10 Women of Achievement. These women are being honored for their dedication and extraordinary efforts in service to the community. They join 311 former honorees who, since 1955 when the awards were begun by The Globe-Democrat, have been selected from a variety of fields because of their common goal of improving the quality of life for those around them.

More than 1,500 letters nominated more than 150 outstanding women to receive the Woman of Achievement honor. A committee of representatives from all segments of the greater St. Louis community selected the 10 women.

The Women of Achievement, and their categories:

- Helen Aff-Drum, Medical Pioneer. has witnessed the evolution of medicine from the Great Depression to the present. She began her career before there was an effective treatment for tuberculosis and later had to battle the disease personally when it struck her. She has begun well-baby clinics in nearby counties and today, at 78, works for the St. Louis County Health Department.

- Louise Bauschard, this year's honoree as Women's Advocate, is founder and executive director of the Women's Self Help Center near downtown St. Louis. The center has gained a national reputation for its work with abused women. Bauschard frequently addresses groups involved with corrections and women's abuse cases. She is on the board of the National Advisory Board for the Female Offender.

- Edith Cunnane is this year's honoree in the field of Humanitarian Concern. She is the administrator of the St. Patrick Center on the near North Side. She has worked with homeless in the neighborhood by establishing a hot-lunch program and counseling services.

- Julia Davis, 95, is being honored for her contributions to education. A teacher for 40 years, she also has been an active chronicler of black history in the St. Louis area. Her historical exhibits at the St. Louis Public Library became such an integral part of the library that the Julia Davis branch was named in her honor. She also has worked on development of local YMCA and YWCA branches.

- Gretta Forrester, who is being honored for volunteer service, has served as president of the Junior League of St. Louis and board chairman of John Burroughs School and KETC-Channel 9. She also has worked with the St. Louis Reperory Theater, the Girl Scouts and the United Way. She serves on several boards and commissions.

- Bertha Gilkey is being recognized for her achievements in Community Betterment. She is chairman of the Cochran Tenant Management Corp. and is a nationally known spokesperson for tenant power and organization. One of 15 children, she became involved in public housing issues during the 1969 rent strike at Cochran and later became a member and president of its tenant association.

- Mary Lou Hess, this year's honoree in Business and Community, is general manager and director of marketing for Plaza Frontenac. A former model, she broke ground by becoming one of the first female members of the Advertising Club of Greater St. Louis. Today she is its president. She has helped make Plaza Frontenac into a showplace for exhibits by area informational and charitable groups.

- Ruth Krause Jacobson, the honoree for Civic Concern, is a senior partner and director of special events at Fleishman-Hillard, Inc. She has served as mentor to women entering the communications and public relations fields and has worked with developers of numerous downtown projects. She also serves on many boards, including Missouri Baptist Hospital, Downtown St. Louis Inc. and the Girl Scout Council of Greater St. Louis.

- Anne Keefe, this year's honoree in Communications, has 40 years of broadcasting experience, including the last 11 as an afternoon mainstay on KMOX radio. In addition to her radio career, she has raised six children and found time to volunteer on numerous boards and agencies. She also keeps a busy public speaking schedule.

- Joanne Knight is being honored for her efforts in the health field. She has been a member of the board of directors of St. Luke's Hospital for seven years. She chaired the board when it undertook a $25 million expansion project. She also serves on the boards of directors of the St. Louis Art Museum and the Central Institute for the Deaf.

The 1986 Women of Achievement will be honored at a noon luncheon Wednesday, May 6 in the Khorassan Room of the Chase Hotel.

Tickets are $12 and may be ordered individually or in tables of 10 by sending a check and self-addressed stamped envelope to Women of Achievement Luncheon, P.O. Box 31326, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Make checks payable to Suburban Journals and please include the names of the guests and the name of the person you are coming to see honored. The deadline for reservations is April 29.

miles from Granite City and is the closest opportunity for area residents to see this show.

"Ramesses the Great" has 70 treasures from the Egyptian Museum in Cairo. The antiquities are about 3,000 years old.

Jack Kyle, director of communications, said 300,000 advance tickets will have been sold by April 15. Approximately 1 million visitors can be accommodated.

The centerpiece of the exhibit is a giant granite statue that stands 21 feet. Kyle said the statue was transported by ship from Alexandria, Egypt to Marseille, France. It was transferred to another ship and taken across the Mediterranean Sea and Atlantic Ocean to the port of Savannah, Ga. It arrived in Memphis in mid-March via two 18-wheel low-bed trucks. It's the largest statue in the exhibit.

The exhibit also contains a 19-pound gold collar, the earrings of King Sety-I (Ramesses' father) and a vessel with a gold goat handle. Burial items, such as carved and painted coffins, comprise a major part of the exhibit. Ramesses the Great (Ramesses II) ruled Egypt from 1290 to 1224 B.C. He was Egypt's second-longest reigning king.

Ramesses the Great was husband to Nefertari and through his many wives sired approximately 50 sons and 40 daughters.

Major hotels have been promoting the exhibition. Many hotels have Ramesses packages that include tickets and complimentary transportation.

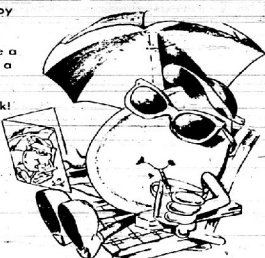

For hotel information, call the Memphis Convention and Visitors Bureau, 901-526-1819.

Tickets for the Ramesses the Great exhibit are $6.50 for adults, $3.75 for adults over 59 and $4.50 for children 4 to 12. To charge tickets on Visa or Mastercard, call Ticketmaster at 901-274-7400.

Chicken, egg discussion at Easter

No matter the weather, fresh green grass smells like new onions and the world is ready to hop across the spring stage with bunnies, lambs, chicks, eggs, tulips and lilacs.

While some people stock a new bonnet to celebrate spring, many put all their eggs in one basket—literally—and express their joy in the colorful season with an ancient symbol of fertility.

Traditions date as far back as the dilemma over which came first, the chicken or the egg.

"Both the egg and the lamb are symbols of a time in the Great Temple in Jerusalem, a time when sacrifices or rituals were made at the temple," explains Eleanor Schneider, program director of the Jewish Community Centers Association.

"They both play a prominent part in the Jewish Seder meal, which ushers in the eight-day observance of Passover. It commemorates the deliverance of the Jews from Egyptian slavery as told in the Book of Exodus in the Bible.

The celebration of the Seder includes many traditions. Bitter herbs, which represent the bitterness of bondage, and salt water, a reminder of the tears that were shed in Egypt, are part of the ritual. So is a mixture of spicy ground apples and walnuts called caroshes, which represents the mortar the Jews used to build Egyptian buildings. A roasted lamb shank bone recalls the sacrifice made to God, while a roasted egg symbolizes the continuation of life.

The Jewish table at this time includes no leavened products. Traditional foods for the bread which did not have time to rise as the Jews had to leave Egypt in haste. Over the years, this ritual has translated into desserts that feature sponge or similar cakes that rely on the air incorporated into beaten egg whites—rather than yeast, baking soda or powder—for lightness.

"Over the centuries there have been new things added that are also appropriate and in keeping with the spirit," says Schneider. "It is an adding, rather than a subtracting, and that enhances the tradition."

Traditions have a mind of their own as they move through generations and countries.

Eggs, obvious for thousands of years, play an integral part in the traditions of many known cultures, says Elaine Slonina, local representative of the American Egg Board. Colored eggs, given to friends as symbols of good luck, date to 5000 B.C.

With acceptance of Christian traditions come variations in Jewish themes. The Polish retell the tears-and-eggs story in terms of Mary Magdalene. She was going to Jesus' tomb, carrying boiled eggs for lunch. In this version, just as she miraculously found Jesus was no longer dead, the eggs were discovered colored by other-worldly means. In the Ukraine dots on the colored eggs are from her tears.

Easter culminates a 40-day period when Christians observe the time leading up to the death, then resurrection of Jesus. Up until recent times this was observed by a strict observance of meatless meals. Slonina says the Lenten law in the fourth century extended to forbid eating eggs, too. Of course, hens did not observe the rule, so children used up the eggs by boiling, coloring them, then using them for toys. Traditional brunch resulted from celebrating Easter morning with a first post-Lenten meal of eggs.

Lamb through most generations was strictly associated with spring. Its prominence in Jewish temple rites transferred into Christian times as the sacrificing of life for greater life with resurrection.

Gus Pavlakis, caterer and chef, says the trick to roasting a whole lamb tender is to use very young meat. On a spit a 10 to 15-pound lamb will take 4½ to 5 hours. When working with a large piece of lamb, such as leg or roast, wash the meat with lemon juice, then insert garlic pods within the meat. Sprinkle with oregano, a bit of sweet paprika, salt and pepper before roasting or baking.

Asparagus is a spring specialty which accompanies lamb well. Pavlakis likes to serve it with a bit of butter or Hollandaise sauce. First, steam the green vegetable, barely boiling it in water 2 to 3 minutes, then remove it. For Hollandaise, use about ½ cup clarified butter (butter that has been melted to allow the sol-

Microwave cooks pork chops to golden tan

For most one- or two-person households, putting a meal on the table on a special occasion or weeknight requires limited preparation and cooking time. Today's small households look for recipe ideas that offer smaller serving sizes, are convenient to prepare, taste delicious and can be served with pride.

One of the most convenient cooking appliances used for this today is the microwave oven. There is no reason to avoid cooking meat in it.

In fact, by using a browning skillet, the action of a frying pan is imitated by converting microwave energy into heat to brown meat. Its specially coated surface becomes very hot after preheating and immediately browns the surface of any meat placed on it. Small flat portions of meat, such as pork chops, work best as they touch the surface of a browning skillet.

Microwave Pork Chops with Fruit Sauce is made easily in a microwave oven with the help of a browning skillet. This entree features boneless pork loin chops. They are a perfect choice for one or two and can be purchased singly. First, marinate the pork chops in a combination of lemon and orange juice, brown sugar, hoisin sauce, orange peel and coriander.

Microwave Pork Chops With Fruit Sauce
2 boneless pork loin chops, cut 1 inch thick (about 4 oz. each)

- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1/4 cup fresh orange juice
- 3 tbsp. brown sugar
- 1 tsp. hoisin sauce (or other soy-based sauce)
- 1 tsp. grated orange peel
- 1 tsp. coriander
- Oil
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- 2 large pitted prunes, cut in half
- 1 orange, peeled, cut in small wedges

Combine lemon juice, orange juice, brown sugar, hoisin sauce, orange peel and coriander. Place boneless pork loin chops in plastic bag. Pour marinade over chops. Close bag securely. Marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours.

turning once. Drain marinade and reserve.

Preheat browning skillet at high in microwave 6 minutes. Lightly brush browning skillet with oil. Place pork chops in browning skillet. Microwave at high 30 seconds. Add 1/4 cup reserved marinade to pork. Cover and continue cooking at medium-low or 50 percent power 9 to 11 minutes, turning chops and rotating dish after 5 minutes. Remove chops. Keep warm.

Combine 1 tablespoon reserved marinade with cornstarch. Add with prunes to sauce. Cook, uncovered, at high 1 to 2 minutes or until sauce is slightly thickened. Stir in orange pieces.

Serve pork chops with fruit sauce.

Something different? Try Passover sweets

Rekindle bonds with family and friends, and celebrate the ancient, Biblical tradition of Passover this year. For this Jewish holiday, a fusion of Pesach and the six-day Festival of Unleavened Bread, allows an expression of joy for the exodus from ancient Egypt and in beginning life anew in the spring.

Rich traditions lie behind the Passover Seder meal. Unleavened bread symbolizes the hurried departure from bondage in Egypt. Bitter herbs cleanse away impurities and commemorate the bitterness of servitude. Haroseth—a mixture of apples, nuts, raisins and cinnamon—represents the mortar with which ancient Israelites labored to build cities.

Of course, no Passover feast would be complete without inspired and uplifting desserts. One such delicacy is Chocolate-Filled Matzo Stack, which evokes the traditional sentiments of "breaking bread together."

A second option for holiday desserts is Passover Coconut Cake. With a cool and refreshing filling of crushed pineapple and whipped topping, this dessert truly invites spring into the home. The cake layers themselves feature a delicious blend of coconut, walnuts and a hint of orange. Delicate, nutty-tasting coconut flakes gild the frosting for a heaven-sent dessert. Finally, a piece of resistance for any Passover meal is Easy Coconut Macaroons. Here are two charming varieties to choose from—plain and simple, and chocolate-and-simple. These sweets are easy, as well as full of flavor. Take homemade plain macaroons, accented with almond flavor, and dip them in melted, semi-sweet chocolate for dessert variety.

Microwave directions: Break chocolate in half. Place with margarine in 1-quart microwave-safe bowl. Heat at high until chocolate is almost melted, 1½ to 2 minutes, stirring once. Stir until completely melted. Cool 10 minutes.

Passover Coconut Cake

- 2 cups coconut
- ¾ cup walnut pieces
- ¾ cup matzo meal
- ¾ cup potato starch
- 6 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tsp. orange juice
- 1 tsp. grated orange rind
- ¾ tsp. salt
- ¾ cups (8 oz.) frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
- 1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple in juice, drained

Finely grind ½ cup coconut and nuts in food processor. Set aside. Mix matzo meal with potato starch. Beat egg yolks in large mixer bowl. Beat in sugar. Continue beating until very thick and light in color, about 5 minutes. Blend in orange juice and matzo meal mixture. Fold in coconut-mat mixture and orange rind.

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff but not dry. Fold small amount into batter. Fold in remaining whites thoroughly but gently. Divide batter between two greased and floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake at 350° for 25 to 30 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Remove from pans and finish cooling in racks.

Spread about 1½ cups whipped topping between layers. Sprinkle with half the pineapple and about ¼ cup coconut. Frost with remaining whipped topping. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Garnish with rest of pineapple. Chill at least 1 hour. Store any leftover cake in refrigerator.

Music without compromise in hopeful message

By Deborah Reinhardt

Staff writer Michael W. Smith shares the cover of music magazines with the likes of Bob Dylan, Tom Petty, Van Halen and Ozzy Osbourne. But he is different. Instead of singing about sex and violence and rock-'n' roll, Smith sings about hope.

"There are some positive things going on (in pop music), like 'We Are the World,' but maybe people are tired of the garbage lyrics we hear on the radio," Smith says.

Smith speaks to teens on "The Big Picture" — his current album on Reunion Records. But he isn't singing about lust or rebellion against parents. The lyrics deal with problems facing today's teenager. "This album is a big jump for me; it deals with some real hard issues with kids," he says. "I kept getting letters from kids talking about suicide, peer pressure and sexual promiscuity. It broke my heart. So I decided to be more aggressive in order to get their attention and communicate hope in the middle of their despair." One of the album's cuts, "Old Enough to Know," cautions a young girl who is being pressured by her boyfriend to have sex that love is never easy. "You're a breed of few and far between holding on to your romantic dream," Smith sings. Another song, "The Last Letter," was triggered by a letter from a 14-year-old Colorado girl who threatened suicide. The song tells teenagers a supreme power can help them work out their troubles. Fans soon will have another chance to see Smith when he performs in concert at 6 p.m. April 18 at Six Flags Over Mid-America. Gospel artist Billy Sprague will open for Smith. "We believe we have a cookin' show. I hope we capture the attention of America," says Smith, who sings and plays keyboard. Labels make Smith uncomfortable, he says, claiming they often confuse instead of clarify. "I feel like I'm a pop musician," he says. "Sometimes it's a little difficult dealing with the title (gospel). It throws the pop market off a little."

Home & garden

Windowsill success lies in plant selection

No matter whether your windows face north, south, east or west, you can fill them with colorful flowering and foliage plants that will grow and thrive. The key to growing attractive houseplants is to select those that will thrive in the amount of light you have available.

Most plants won't die the minute they are placed in a window that is too dark, but without the light needed to produce food, they will literally starve to death. Such plants will slowly lose old leaves and produce smaller new ones, and as time goes on, will become tall and spindly.

If you match the plants to the amount of light available, and observe a few basic cultural practices, you'll have started a successful windowsill garden that will grow and thrive not only from month to month, but from year to year.

The first step in deciding how much light your garden receives is to determine which way the window faces. Use a compass, if necessary. North-facing windows receive the least amount of light, south the most. East and west windows receive roughly the same amount, although west windows tend to be hotter.

You must also consider how much actual light enters through the window. The glass cuts down on light, even when sparkling clean. If your window is heavily shaded by trees, curtains, nearby buildings or a porch roof or awning, the amount of light will be reduced considerably. Curtains, even sheer ones, can effectively turn a west window into a north window.

If you have an unusually dark window, or a dark corner that cries for a plant, consider purchasing two identical plants recommended for a north window. Rotate the plants between the dark spot and a bright window on a weekly basis.

Supplemental lighting is another solution. Suspend a fluorescent fixture over the spot where you want the plant, and use one cool-white and one warm-white tube to provide a wide spectrum of light. Attach a timer so it will turn on and off automatically. Most plants will appreciate at least 12 to 14 hours of supplemental light per day.

Another way to provide additional light is to reflect it onto plants. White walls will reflect more light than dark ones, and a well-placed mirror can reflect a great deal.

Available light diminishes quite rapidly as you move it away from a window. Place plants close to a window without touching it. If they need to be more than 2 feet from an east or west window, choose a species recommended for a northern exposure.

Avoid placing plants directly on top of radiators or heating ducts.

Dust on leaves cuts down on the amount of light a plant receives. The misting used to raise humidity levels around a plant doesn't wash off much dust. A better solution is to regularly give your plants a brief shower.

For large plants, tie a plastic bag around the pot, covering the soil as much as possible (so it doesn't wash away), and set the plant, pot and all, in the shower under a gentle stream of tepid water for several minutes. Small plants can be rinsed in the sink. In the summer, plants can be moved outside and sprayed with a gentle stream from the hose. Regular showers also help with insect control by washing away pests before infestation gets started. Most can be washed away with a gentle rub. Use a soft brush for hairy-leaved plants.

If you see evidence of an infestation, wash the leaves with a weak solution of white soap (1 or 2 tablespoons to a gallon of water), with a soft sponge. Be sure to allow enough time for plants to dry off completely before nighttime, however, to avoid disease problems.

Select your plants according to the amount of light you have available, don't neglect the basics of good culture—proper watering, humidity levels, fertilizing and soil conditions—and you will make a strong start towards having healthy houseplants that can be enjoyed for years.

Here are some examples of houseplants that do well in windows facing the directions indicated:

North—Asplenium nidus

(bird's nest fern), Maranta leuconeura (prayer plant), Zebra pendula (wandering jew), Dieffenbachia sp. (dumb cane). East—Nephrolepis exaltata (Boston fern), Oxalis (shamrock), Cissus rhombifolia (grape ivy), Clivia minnata (kaffir lily). South—Pelargonium sp. (geranium), Aloe barbadensis (medicinal aloe), Crassula argentea (jade plant), Brassia arborescens (Hawaiian shefflera).

West—Ficus elastica (rubber plant), Monstera deliciosa (cutleaf philodendron), Saintpaulia sp. (African violet), Chamaedorea elegans (parlor palm). For a more detailed list of houseplants and their requirements for light, water, temperature, soil, humidity and fertilizer, send $1 with your name and address to: Houseplants, AHS, P.O. Know cooling needs before buying unit

To perform at its best, an air conditioner must be well-matched to the space it has to cool. A unit with too little capacity obviously can't cool a room enough when outside temperatures are high. What's not so obvious is that a unit that's too big for the room may be just as bad in its own way.

An air conditioner doesn't just cool—it must also remove humidity from the air, and that's equally important for comfort. An oversized unit cools so quickly it shuts down before the humidity in the room is sufficiently reduced, leaving the occupants feeling cold and clammy.

It's not hard to choose the right size of air conditioner. Before you shop, decide where to install it. If you have a choice, locate the unit on a shady side of the house where it will work most efficiently.

Then figure out the right "size" air conditioner—its heat-removal capacity, expressed as Btu (British thermal units) per hour.

A little multiplication and division will give you the right number of Btu/hour for the location you've chosen. It's easy, especially with a pocket calculator.

First, measure the space (or spaces) to be cooled. Multiply the width, height and length (in feet) together, to get total volume, add connecting areas together as one room if they must be cooled by the same unit.

Select proper containers for plants

Anything that will hold a planting mix can be used for your container garden. All that is necessary is that the containers hold soil and have a means for drainage.

Hanging baskets may be used in various places — suspended from porch roofs or balconies, trees or special racks.

Baskets soften harsh lines, close up massive spaces and brighten drab decks. Windows, doorways and railings come alive with this colorful accent.

The annual periwinkle, available in several color forms, is perfect for sunny, hot areas, as are the Mexican trailing zinnias, verbena and marigolds.

The dwarf patio vegetables used with some of the above flowering materials can be real conversation pieces when featured by the entrance or patio area.

Second, assign the space an "insulation factor": 10 if it's well-insulated; 18 if it is poorly insulated or has a lot of window area.

Third, assign the space an "exposure factor," depending on which way its longest outside wall faces: 16 if it faces north, 17 for east, 18 for south and 20 for west.

Finally, multiply these numbers together—volume times insulation times exposure—and divide the result by 60. The answer is the cooling capacity, in Btu per hour, required for that space.

The formula can be summed up as "WHILE/60 Btu/hour": Width x Height x Insulation x Length x Exposure divided by 60.

For example, a room that's 15 feet by 8 feet by 20 feet, well-insulated (10), and facing south (18) would require an air conditioner with 7200 Btu/hour capacity. (That is, $15 \times 8 \times 20 \times 10 \times 18$ equals 432,000; 432,000/60 equals 7200.)

Once you've determined the right cooling capacity for your own space, you're ready to shop. Choose the most efficient unit that meets your needs—the one that delivers the required cooling capacity while using the least electricity; it will save you money, year after year, on its operating costs.

You may find this "Energy Efficiency Ratio" (EER) on a tag attached to each unit; or the dealer can tell you what it is. If, for some reason, this ratio is not directly available, figure it out: Just divide the unit's cooling output (Btu per hour) by its electricity consumption (watts), and the answer is its efficiency ratio. In comparing units, the highest efficiency ratio is the best.

For instance, a 7200-Btu-hour unit that uses 654 watts has an excellent efficiency ratio of 11, but a same-sized unit using 1,000 watts has a ratio of only 7 and that's not so good. (Information for this article has been supplied by Union Electric Co.)

A rainy weekend; Scores welcomed

Well, we knew it wouldn't last forever.

It had been a little chilly for a few of the early spring sporting events this year, but rain hadn't washed out much. Until this weekend.

The finals of the Hazelwood Central Tournament were supposed to be Saturday, but the morning rains forced postponement of the games until this Saturday. The Warriors will play Belleville West in the semifinals at 11 a.m., and the winner will play either Hazelwood Central or McCluer in the title game at 1 p.m. The third place game is also at 1 p.m.

The rains didn't move across the river until later in the day, so the girls' soccer game at Granite City as well as the Belleville West Invitational track meet came off without a hitch. But Monday morning's thunderstorm washed out three area events: The Warrior softball game at home against Edwardsville was postponed, as well as the Granite City-Edwardsville tennis match and a track meet at Madison.

Such is the nature of spring sports, however.

In the meantime, the coming of spring means the beginning of baseball and softball leagues all over the Tri-Cities. There will be literally hundreds of teams playing games for the next five months or so.

As you might imagine, it is impossible for us to cover all the games, so we don't even try. But we would like to print the scores of as many games as we have room for.

So this is an open letter to all league officials. If you would like to get your scores in the paper, please feel free to send them in. The Soccer For Fun complex on Illinois 111 has been doing it for years, and the Granite City Park District has also done it in the summer. We welcome scores in soccer, baseball, softball, basketball and whatever else is being played.

But I would suggest a few ground rules to make it a little easier on us. All leagues should send in their scores at regular win as they raised their record to 4-1. Collinsville is in for an 11 a.m. game Saturday.

THE BATTLE FOR the ball is on between the Lady Warriors and the Peoria Bergan Trojans Saturday morning at GCHS. The Warriors won most of the battles, rolling to a 5-0

Trojans 16th, Warriors 21st at Belleville W. Invitational

Nether Granite City nor Madison scored big in Saturday's invitational track meet at Belleville West.

The Trojans finished 16th in the 26-team event with 8½ points, while the Warriors were 21st with a single point. Jesse Leonard of the Trojans did bring home a first place in the long jump competition with a jump of 22-2½, five inches better than the second-place finisher, Mike Lewis of O'Fallon. Howard Murray also scored for Madison, taking eighth in the high jump at 6-2.

The only Warriors to score were the 3200 meter relay team, which took eight place with a time of 8:51.5.

East St. Louis Lincoln won the event with 136 points, barely edging out crosstown rival East St. Louis, which finished with 135 points. The rest of the team standings were: Hazelwood Central, 79; Mt. Vernon, 55; Marion, 52; Alton, 48½; Edwardsville, 36; O'Fallon, 28; Springfield South-east, 27½; Belleville West, 23½; Westlin, 21; Anna-Jonesboro, 20; Belleville East, 18½; Mater Dei, 17; Mascoutah, 14; MADISON, 10½; Cahokia, 8½; Lebanon, 4½; Waterloo, 4½; Metro East Lutheran, 3; GRANITE CITY, 1. Breese Central, Civic Memorial, Collinsville and Freeburg all failed to score.

A home meet for Madison Monday against Belleville Althoff and Lebanon was rained out. The Trojans were to run in a quad meet Tuesday in Bethalto, while the Warrior girls will run in the Tiger Relays Thursday at SIUE.

Lady Warriors 4-1; set for Kahoks

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

The Warrior girls soccer team should be well-rested going into Saturday's home game against Collinsville.

A combination of college board tests and easy victories over the weekend allowed Warrior coach Mike Velloff to rest his top players going in the game Saturday against Granite City's biggest metro east rival.

On Friday, the Lady Warriors played through the rain at Metro East Lutheran and hammered the Knights, 6-0. Granite City came back with another strong effort Saturday morning at home, whipping Peoria Bergan 5-0.

"We're not where we need to be yet," Velloff said. "But we have played fairly well. We changed a few things around from Thursday's game (a 2-1 home loss to incarnate Word), and it helped. I had most of my starters available, but a lot of players were taking the ACT on Saturday.

But nothing stopped the Warriors from upping their record to 4-1 with the two wins. Cindy Bri-dick, Christi York and Angie Moore scored in the first half of Friday's game at Edwardsville, then Velloff turned loose Haig Nighohossian's junior varsity players in the second half, and they scored three more. The game was called after three quarters.

Saturday morning, it was more of the same, as the Warriors again took a 3-0 lead before halftime. Moore again got things going by scoring the first two goals, then Michelle Jones got her second of the year.

"They played OK for a while," Velloff said of the Trojans. "But they began to press a little when

More honors for

Harris, Hall

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Selection of Clinton Harris as the Class A Coach of the Year by the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association in District 19 was cause for congratulation at Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said Harris will be honored at the 15th annual Hall of Fame induction dinner, scheduled for April 25 at Illinois State University.

Another honor also has been received by the Red Devils' star forward, Jesse Hall, who was chosen to play in the 1987 IBFA All-Star games June 27 at the Civic Arena in Florida.

Support for commemorative programs recording both honors was being sought from board members, the administrator said.

"Part of this is commercialization," Vickers said. "Perhaps I should say this as you don't always have this type of success every year."

The board decided to ask student organizations to participate in efforts to raise funds to help support publication of a commemorative book honoring Harris and Hall.

16-team tourney in Madison

A 16-team double elimination softball tournament will be held in Madison April 17-19. For more information on entering a team, call Gene at 452-5500 or the Eagles at 451-2109.

Baseball

intervals. Once a week should be most often. Otherwise, once a month would also be fine if fewer games are played. Please send them all in at once, written out neatly or typed on clean sheets of paper.

Neatness is vital, since something that is not easily legible might be left out. Please mark clearly the team names, the final score and what division or league each game is played in. Group the scores from each division together.

We can't guarantee when certain scores will run because of space limitations. But we will try to get them in as soon as possible after they are sent in. The easiest thing to do is get a week's worth of scores together and have them into the office on Monday morning.

Each league is responsible for getting its scores together and sending them in. They can either be delivered in person to 1815 Delmar Avenue or mailed in. Please mark them for the sports department.

As summer arrives and the high school sports come to a close, we will have a little more space to work with, so the scores will be a welcome addition. League standings will also be printed as space permits. They can be sent in weekly as well.

We want to get as much information and scores from the many recreational leagues in the area in the paper as we can.

we got up by three. When you fall behind by three goals in soccer, it's very tough.

Sophomore Jennifer Debeve added both Warrior goals in the second half.

"We've got a long way to go," Velloff said. "But we're doing some things we need to do."

Now the Lady Kahoks come calling, and it's a rivalry the Warriors look forward to. Fortunately, it's still not as bitter a rivalry as exists between the Warriors and Kahoks in boys soccer.

"We haven't had any incidents with them," Velloff said. "And I don't think we will. But it's still a game the girls look forward to."

NOTES: Velloff will be attending a meeting next Tuesday with the Illinois High School Association, with the possibility of the state instituting a state playoff for next year. "It's supposed to be an all-day meeting."

"So I hope we can do more than just talk about it. There are more girls programs than I realized in the state. There are about 80 schools playing now." It is hoped there will be a post-season tournament in 1988.

NSA needing area directors

Area directors are needed for the National Softball Association. The directors will coordinate men's and women's slow-pitch teams at local sports complexes. Tournaments will be conducted for qualification in the playoffs.

Playoffs begin in the area, then move up to state and on to regional and national competition before a world series is played in mid-August.

There will be Class B and Class C competition. For more information, call Carl Alford, Illinois director of NSA, at 667-6020.
